Operation during Corona Crisis

Dear Clients, Dear Partners,

The Corona Crisis and its impact are present to all of us, although in different forms and with different intensity. It is in our outmost interest and our first priority to reduce the longterm impact of this crisis and to avoid any damage to the health of anybody and to minimize the economic damage as well.

With that in mind, we try to serve all our clients with the same level of safety, quality and efficiency, respecting always the safety measurements implemented by the Ministry of Health as well as respecting the national measures of the country we are operating.

We would like to advice our clients and partners that our crews will respect at all times the required social distancing and that we skip for that reason the handshake upon arrival at the construction site. The operational briefings and Debriefings are held, in these days with the required physical distance between the participants.

Our administration works as well under a reduced working hour scheme. Our project managers depending the country they operating in, are more or less flexible to move and assist the projects, but they will be pleased to hand out quotations and operational offers for every project. Visiting our esteemed clients will be reduced to a minimum in the months to come, but everybody in our company is connected to the world via phone and e-mail.

We wish you, your family and friends to stay always healthy and that all of you will overcome this crisis with the least possible damage.

Best regards.
